Thank you for your submission, but this tracker is used to track the Android Open Source Project and issues with its developer tools.

If you have questions about how to use the tools, or how to get your Android app to work, please visit <http://developer.android.com/support.html> for the appropriate communication channel.

Alternatively for both official and community based support to development questions you can post to Stack Overflow:
<http://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/android>

If you have issues with a specific device, please contact your device manufacture support team.
